- 1.2 The terms and conditions applicable to any Transaction shall be comprised of these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules contained herein and those set out in each of the related documentation listed below (the “Related Documentation”) which together, comprise the agreement between you and us:
- 1.2.1 “Country Conditions”: these set out the terms that apply to you when you undertake any Transaction in the country identified in the Country Conditions given to you and any terms that Applicable Regulations and/or our local regulator in the relevant country obliges us to raise expressly to your attention;
- 1.2.2 “Product Description”: this sets out the product specific terms that apply to the Transaction that the Bank is entering into with you as well as containing the application form for the specified product. Where we offer you investment products provided by third parties, the relevant Product Description may comprise the third party providers terms and conditions;

- 1.2.4 “Personal Banking General Terms and Conditions”: these set out the general relationship terms and conditions governing our banking relationship with you generally.
- 1.3 By signing and committing yourself to a Transaction (after completing a Transaction application form), you shall be deemed to have accepted these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules contained herein, and those set out in each of the Related Documentation. In addition, you agree that any electronic method of acceptance of these General Terms and Conditions and Related Documentation shall constitute your acceptance of our terms and conditions, and changes to our terms and conditions, as if you had accepted in writing and all relevant laws and regulations applicable to acceptance of contracts via electronic methods will apply.
- 1.4 You agree that when you and the Bank enter into a Transaction, these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules contained herein, and those set out in each of the Related Documentation shall apply to that Transaction. These General Terms and Conditions shall also be applicable whenever the Bank gives you advice or recommendations.
- 1.5 These General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules contained herein shall apply in addition to, and supplement, any existing or additional documentation relating to specific Transactions. In the event of discrepancy between the above mentioned documents the terms of the relevant Product Description will prevail. Similarly, the relevant Country Conditions will take precedence over these General Terms and Conditions and these General Terms and Conditions will take precedence over the Personal Banking General Terms and Conditions.
- 1.6 The Bank may execute and provide other services in respect of Transactions through its Associates or unrelated third parties. You authorise the Bank to use the services of third parties in the provision of such services without your further consent and on such terms as the Bank may determine. In respect of Transactions with or through third parties, you may be subject to the business terms and conditions of such persons. In the event of discrepancy between those business terms and conditions and these General Terms and Conditions, such business terms and conditions, if any, shall in relation to the rights and obligations of such third party, prevail.
- 1.7 Applicable Regulation
- 1.7.1 These General Terms and Conditions and all Transactions are subject to Applicable Regulations so that:
- if there is any conflict between these General Terms and Conditions and any Applicable Regulations, the latter will prevail to the extent that such are mandatorily binding upon one or both parties;

 - all Applicable Regulations and whatever we do or fail to do in order to comply with them will be binding on you; and
 - such actions that we take or fail to take for the purpose of compliance with any Applicable Regulations shall not render us or any of our directors, officers, employees, agents or Associates liable under the terms of these General Terms and Conditions or Related Documentation.

1.8 Communication with us

- 1.8.1 In all respects relating to any Transaction, we would invite you to communicate on an informal basis with your designated Wealth Relationship Manager as you may agree together. On a formal basis, please ensure that you address your communications to us in writing and send these to us by way of registered post. With regard to any complaint, we would invite you to first approach your designated Wealth Relationship Manager or alternatively submit your complaint to us through your local branch, call centre or website in the Country. Please do not send us any formal communication by way of fax or e-mail. The language of communication shall be English and/or Arabic, and you will receive documents and other information from us in English, or dual language (Arabic/English) format.
- 1.8.2 Please refer to the business card for full details of your Wealth Relationship Manager. Please retain this for future reference.

1.9 Capacity

You and we each enter into Transactions for our own benefit and not as an agent or trustee on behalf of someone else.

1.10 Charges

- 1.10.1 You shall pay our charges as agreed with you from time to time, including:
- (a) charges for advice and recommendations (if any);
 - (b) any taxes imposed by any competent authority on any Transaction effected by you;

- 1.10.2 You agree that these charges apply in addition to any charges imposed by third party product providers as detailed in the relevant Product Description.
- 1.10.3 You should note that, when we enter into Transactions with you, we may receive fees and commissions from product providers who have helped us to enter into Transactions with you. You will not pay these charges directly to us. Full details of all fees and commissions payable will be disclosed to you. All charges applied by product providers will be communicated to you separately.
- 1.11 Cancellation

Please refer to the relevant Product Description for cancellation provisions in respect of specific Transactions.

2. ADVICE

2.1 Information from you

Where we give you advice, your Wealth Relationship Manager will suggest products to you having considered their possible suitability for your personal circumstances. We shall seek to obtain information about your personal and financial circumstances so that we can make a recommendation which is suitable for you. We may seek to obtain information about your risk tolerance, knowledge and experience of investing so that we can assess whether a proposed Transaction is appropriate for you. The decision to take specific products will be yours.

2.2 Accuracy of Information and Failure to Inform us

We shall assume that information about your personal and financial circumstances, knowledge and experience provided from you to us is accurate and we will have no responsibility to you if such information changes or becomes inaccurate unless you have informed us of such changes. You understand that, unless you give us accurate and complete information, we will not be able to advise you properly and/or the product(s) we recommend to you may not be suitable and we will not be responsible for this.

2.3 Advice and Execution Only Transactions

- 2.3.1 Where we have completed a financial planning review, assessed your risk tolerance and made a recommendation of a product that we think it suitable for you and meets your needs, this means we have given you advice. Where you accept our recommendation, you will have acted on our advice.
- 2.3.2 If you decide to act against our advice and instead choose a product or ask us to effect a Transaction that is not in line with our recommendation, then you will be acting of your own volition on an execution against advice basis. We call this "self-directed" and we will not be liable if the Transaction you ask us to effect is not suitable for you. When this happens, we may ask you to sign additional documentation stating that you are aware you are acting on this basis and that you agree we are not responsible for the outcome.
- 2.3.3 If you do not want our advice, you can request to take a product or effect a Transaction without any advice or recommendation from us. We call this "execution only" and we will not be liable to you for the outcome of the Transaction or the product choice. You will be responsible for your choice of product and the outcome of the Transaction. We will make it clear at the time you ask us to effect the Transaction that we are not giving you advice or making a recommendation. For certain products, we will only allow you to deal with us on an “execution only” basis. Where we are required to do so by applicable law or regulation, we will make some basic suitability checks, such as checking your financial position and risk tolerance. This does not mean we are making a recommendation or giving you advice on the Transaction, nor does it mean we are advising you on the suitability of the Transaction. We will ask you to sign documentation stating that you are aware that it is your decision alone to undertake the Transaction, you are acting on an “execution only” basis and are responsible for the outcome and product choice, and you have not been given any advice or recommendation by us.

2.4 No on-going advice

2.4.1 We are not under any obligation to provide you with on-going advice in relation to the management of your investments or in respect of any particular Transaction. It is your responsibility to have regular financial reviews and to keep your investments under review to ensure they continue to meet your changing needs, goals and financial circumstances. If you do not have regular financial reviews, we cannot re-assess the on-going suitability of your investments and we will not be responsible if they do not continue to be suitable for you.

2.4.2 During your financial planning reviews, we may identify that the investments you hold are no longer suitable for your current needs, goals, preferences, financial circumstances or risk tolerance, or your investment portfolio may need to be “re-balanced”, or you may be holding a product that we do not sell (or no longer sell) and therefore we have no information to form an opinion on its continued suitability for you. In these circumstances, we may (but are not obliged to) make a recommendation to switch, transfer or re-direct investments. When we consider these options with you, we will explore with you the potential advantages and disadvantages and costs associated with making such changes and will document these in your financial planning report. Changing investments involves market risk and we cannot guarantee your new investments will out-perform your existing investments. We will not be responsible if this happens, so long as our recommendation was for an investment that was suitable for you and we made you aware of the potential risks of changing your investments before you transacted. If we make a recommendation to change your existing investments in any way and you choose to proceed against our recommendation and/or retain your existing investments unchanged, you will be acting against our advice (or “self-directed” - see clause 2.3.2 above) and we will not be liable if the investments you continue to hold are not suitable for you or become unsuitable for you in the future. If you continue to hold investments that we do not sell (or no longer sell), even though we have advised you to change them, or you choose not to review your existing investments with us at all during your financial planning review, you do so at your own risk and we will not be liable to you if the investments you continue to hold are not suitable for you or become unsuitable for you in the future.

2.5 Limitations

2.5.1 Where we do provide market information, advice or recommendations, we give no representation, warranty or guarantee as to their accuracy or completeness or as to the tax consequences of any Transaction. Unless we specifically agree otherwise in writing with you, you hereby acknowledge:

- (a) that the provision of advice is incidental to your dealing relationship with us and provided solely to enable you to make your own investment decisions;
- (b) that the information provided to other clients may be different from advice given to you; and
- (c) that such information may not be consistent with our proprietary investments, or those of our Associates, directors, employees or agents.

2.6 Investment research and other published information

We may from time to time send published research reports and recommendations and other publications to you. If the document contains a restriction on the person or category of persons for whom that document is intended or to whom it is distributed, you agree that you will not pass it on to any such person or category of persons. We make no representations as to the time of receipt by you of research reports or recommendations and cannot guarantee that you will receive such research reports or recommendations at the same time as other clients. We shall not be liable for any investment decision you make, based in whole or in part, on any investment research report, recommendation or other publication we send to you. Any such published research reports or recommendations may appear in one or more screen information service. Please refer to Clause 13.8 for further information on how we manage conflicts which would affect the impartiality of investment research we provide to you.

2.7 Ancillary advice

We will not provide any advice other than as provided for in these General Terms and Conditions and in line with any Applicable Regulations. For the avoidance of doubt, we will not provide any tax, legal or accounting advice or any advice on inheritance or estate planning and we shall not at any time be deemed to be under any duty to provide such advice. Other than sharing product specific documentation or sharing general information about the current processes that would apply in the event of your death, we will not advise you on what will happen to your investment and insurance products upon your death and we will not provide advice or assistance to your heirs in respect of applying for probate or any other relevant court orders in the event of your death. If you require advice for any of these matters, you must seek it from an independent professional advisor, the costs of which would be your responsibility (or the responsibility of your heirs as applicable).

- 6.1.5 You acknowledge that where you do not deliver any instructions, money, documents or property deliverable by you under a Transaction, we may nevertheless settle the Transaction. Where the Bank settles the Transaction, you shall immediately pay or transfer to us sufficient money, documents or property to reimburse the Bank for any shortfall. You shall on demand reimburse us for any commission, charges or other expenses we have incurred settling the Transaction prior to receiving such money, documents or property as the case may be. If we do so and the costs of or in connection with purchasing or borrowing the money, documents or property is greater than the amount received by us on the settlement of the Transaction, you shall pay to us an amount equal to the difference (together with any commission or other fees or expenses that are due to us). In any event, we may debit the amount received on the settlement of the transaction from your Account and apply such amount (a) against the purchase or (b) in the purchase of any equivalent investments that we are required to deliver to the relevant stock lender and (c) against other costs or charges incurred in connection with such purchase. You will not have a right to title or interest in any cash or investments received for your Account. We will have no obligation to deliver or account to you for any such cash or investments and we will be entitled to retain any such cash or investments until such time that you have met your obligations.

You authorise us to effect such currency conversions and enter into such foreign exchange transactions with or on your behalf at such rates and in such manner as we may, in our absolute discretion, determine.
- 6.1.8 You hereby undertake that any money, documents or property deliverable by you under a Transaction is free from any mortgage, pledge, lien, hypothecation, security interest or other charge or encumbrance, or any other agreement having the same economic effect over or in respect of the documents or property deliverable. You further undertake not to create any mortgage, pledge, lien, hypothecation, security interest or other charge or encumbrance or otherwise dispose or create an interest therein.
- 6.1.9 You acknowledge that clearing and settlement of Transactions may result in your money, documents or property being pooled with money, documents or property of the same description of the Bank or our other customers and accordingly you shall not have the right to any specific document or title or certificates or any other evidence of title to any such property but subject to Applicable Regulation be entitled to equivalent money, documents or property.
- 6.1.10 You agree that we shall have no liability for any liability suffered or incurred by you by reason of (a) the Bank taking or failing to take any action, where such action or failure to take action is required by a Market or a central clearing party or under the rules, requirements and procedures of the Market or the central clearing party; (b) the Bank taking or failing to take any action which it considers necessary or appropriate in response to any action taken or any failure to take action by a Market or a central clearing party, where such action or failure to take action by the Market or central clearing party is required by its rules, requirements or procedures; and (c) a Market or a central clearing party taking or failing to take any action, where such action or failure to take action is authorised, permitted or required by its rules, requirements or procedures, including without limitation the exercise by such Market or central clearing party of any procedure, right or claim against you.

 - (b) we are not obliged to exercise our rights under this Clause, which are without prejudice to any other rights to which we are otherwise entitled; and
 - (c) we shall be entitled to combine or consolidate Accounts for any of the purposes set out above or otherwise in connection with the exercise of its rights hereunder.
- 7.2.2 Where any set off, consolidation, combination or transfer requires the conversion of one currency to another, such conversion shall be carried out at such rates and in such manner as we in our sole discretion shall determine.
- 7.2.3 Until such time that you have paid or discharged in full all monies and liabilities owed to the Bank in relation to your Account(s), any monies from time to time outstanding to the credit of your Account(s) up to the value of the outstanding amount shall not be due and payable. We may, however, in our absolute discretion make payments to you from any such Account(s) or otherwise exercise its rights, including our rights of set-off.
- 7.2.4 If you fail to make payment or delivery in relation to settlement or execution Transactions when required, breach any of the provisions of these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules relating to payment or delivery obligations in relation to settlement or execution of Transactions or any Market or Applicable Regulations or become subject to an Insolvency Event (or if we reasonably consider you have not performed or unlikely to perform your payment or delivery obligations hereunder) we may, without prejudice to any other right or remedy available to us, and without further notice:

- (a) Cancel, close out, terminate or reverse all or any Transactions for your Account;
- (b) retain, sell, charge, create a security interest over or otherwise dispose of any cash, investments or other assets held for your Account and apply the same or any proceeds of sale thereof in full or partial settlement of any liability; and/or
- (c) exercise any other right or remedy available to us pursuant to these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules or take such other action as we may, in our absolute discretion, consider necessary, desirable or expedient.

7.2.5 We shall have no liability whatsoever to you for any loss or liability or loss of profit or gain incurred or suffered in consequence of any exercise by us of any right or remedy available to us pursuant to these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules and any purchase, sale, transaction or other action may be undertaken by us at such price and on such terms as we shall, in our absolute discretion, determine.

8. CONFIRMATIONS AND REPORTS

8.1 Confirmations

8.1.1 Unless provided differently in the applicable Product Schedule, we shall send you Transaction Confirmations on the same day (or as otherwise required under the Applicable Regulations) for any Transactions that we have executed on your behalf by post, or if you prefer, by electronic mail to the e-mail address on record for you or by any other means we agree with you. It is your responsibility to inform us of any change to your e-mail address and other contact details, the non-receipt of a Transaction Confirmation, or whether any Transaction Confirmations are incorrect before settlement. Transaction Confirmations shall, in the absence of manifest error, be conclusive and binding on you, unless:

- (a) we receive from you objection in writing within two Business Days of despatching the confirmation to you; or
- (b) we notify you of an error in the Transaction Confirmation. If we have notified you of any such error we shall issue a revised Transaction Confirmation and the revised Transaction Confirmation shall be conclusive and binding on you, unless we receive your objection in writing within two Business Days of despatching the revised Transaction Confirmation to you.

8.1.2 Where applicable, we will ensure that you receive documents showing ownership of your investments as soon as practicable after we receive them. Where a number of documents relating to a series of Transactions is involved, we may hold them until the series is complete before forwarding them to you.

8.2 Regulatory Reporting

Under Applicable Regulations, we may be obliged to make information about certain Transactions public. You agree and acknowledge that any and all proprietary rights in such Transaction information are owned by us and you waive any duty of confidentiality attaching to the information which we reasonably disclose.

9. CLIENT MONEY

Money held with third parties

We may pass money received from you to a third party to hold or control in order to effect a Transaction through or with that person. We have no responsibility for any acts or omissions of any third party to whom we pass money received from you. The third party to whom we pass money may hold it in an omnibus account and it may not be possible to separate such money from our money, or the third party's money. In the event of the insolvency or any other analogous proceedings in relation to that third party, we will only have an unsecured claim against the third party on behalf of you and our other clients, and you will be exposed to the risk that the money received by us from the third party is insufficient to satisfy the claims of you and all other clients with claims in respect of the relevant account.

10. CUSTODY

10.1 Custody Services

We may act as custodian for any assets received from you or received and held for your Account ("Custody Assets").

10.2 Registration of Custody Assets

We may register or arrange the registration of the Custody Assets in any name permitted by Applicable Regulations. In particular, but without limitation, the Custody Assets may be registered in your name (or in the name of a nominee company controlled by us or any of our Affiliates, a recognised or designated investment exchange or a custodian) or, where required, in the name of the Bank.

10.3 Pooling

We shall identify, record and hold all Custody Assets separately from any of the Bank's own investments and other assets, and in such a manner that the identity and location of Custody Assets can be identified at any time. Any part of the Custody Assets may be pooled with investments and assets of the same description of the Bank's other clients and accordingly you shall not have the right to any specific documents of title or certificates or other evidence of title which evidence title to any such investments, but will instead be entitled, subject to any Applicable laws and Regulations, to an amount of investments of any issue that is of the same description and in the same amount credited to your Account.

10.4 Eligible Third Parties

- 10.4.1 We may hold your Custody Assets with a custodian, securities depository, clearing or settlement system, any participant in such a system or any Associate (each an "Eligible Third Party") to provide Custody and Nominee Services on your behalf provided that any such person or entity qualifies as a custodian under Applicable Regulations. We may also appoint sub-custodians (including sub custodians overseas). We may use any intermediate brokers or settlement agents or an Eligible Third Party and pass money or investments held for your Account to such broker or settlement agent.
- 10.4.2 Such assets may be held in a single account that is identified as belonging to the Bank's clients and your entitlement will be identified separately in books and records held by the Eligible Third Party. You should note that the broad effect of this is that in the event of an irreconcilable shortfall following the default of any Eligible Third Party, you may share in that shortfall proportionately with the Bank's other clients.
- 10.4.3 We may arrange for the Custody Assets to be held overseas or pass money or Investments held for your account to an intermediate broker, settlement agent or Eligible Third Party. In such cases, your money and Investments will be subject to the laws of that overseas jurisdiction and your rights relating to your money and Investments may be different. In the event of default your money and Investments may be treated differently.
- 10.4.4 We will exercise reasonable prudence in accordance with its due diligence procedures in the selection and continuing use of any Eligible Third Party but, in the absence of negligence, fraud or wilful misconduct by us, we shall not be responsible for the default of any Eligible Third Party.

10.5 Realisation of Custody Assets

You agree that the Custody Assets may be subject to a security interest, lien or right of set-off in favour of any Service Provider, sub-custodian, Nominee or agent thereof in respect of any liabilities relating to your Account.

10.6 Payments, Corporate Actions and Notices and Other Documentation

- 10.6.1 We will assume responsibility for claiming and receiving dividends and interest payments. Dividends and interest payments may be received by us (or any Nominee company or custodian) net of local withholding or similar taxes or deductions and we (or any Nominee company or custodian) may, if required to do so to comply with Applicable Regulations, itself withhold or deduct tax or other amounts from dividend or interest payments received. You shall reimburse us for any costs incurred by us (or any Nominee company or custodian) in complying with our obligations to apply withholdings or deductions. For the avoidance of doubt, you shall be responsible for reclaiming amounts withheld or deducted.
- 10.6.2 We will inform you of any Corporate Action that affect any investments that are held in your Account as soon as reasonably practicable after receiving notice of those events. You are responsible for providing instructions with respect to the exercise of rights and performance of all actions which may be exercisable in relation to any Custody Assets, including without limitation the right to vote, tender, exchange, endorse, transfer, or deliver any investments in your Account to participate in or consent to any class action, distribution, plan of reorganisation, creditors committee, merger, combination, consolidation, liquidation, underwriting, or similar plan with reference to such investments. In the absence of instructions from you, the Bank will apply the default election to your Account on a Corporate Action. Where no default election exists, we shall not exercise any voting or other rights.
- 10.6.3 We shall on receipt of any notice or documentation relating to the Custody Assets, use reasonable efforts to forward the same to you or deal with the same in accordance with the directions given by you from time to time.

10.7 Safe Custody Statements

We will provide you with information relating to the safe custody investments for which we or a Nominee company hold on your behalf by sending you periodic custody statements. Unless otherwise agreed, these will be sent to you annually. Assets shown on those statements will be valued on the basis set out in those statements.

10.8 Value of Custody Assets

- 10.8.1 We shall not be liable in respect of any loss or damage or diminution or depreciation in the value of the Custody Assets held by us (whether or not held in the name of the Bank or a Nominee) that you suffer due to or arising out of the handling and/or holding and/or dealing with the Custody Assets and (or related documents held by us) unless the loss or damage is a consequence of an act of negligence, fraud or wilful misconduct on the part of the Bank and without any limitation to the foregoing we shall not be liable in respect of any loss or damage or diminution or depreciation in value of the Custody Assets or deposited with or held by or dealt with by our Associates where their appointment was made in good faith and without any negligence.

10.8.2 The Bank shall be under no duty to diversify investments or assets, nor be under any duty to preserve the value of the investments or assets or to see that the value of the investments or assets or any part or parts thereof is enhanced in any way, nor shall the Bank be liable for any failure in that respect whatsoever.

11. REPRESENTATIONS, WARRANTIES AND COVENANTS

13.2 Amendments

The Bank has the right to amend the terms of these General Terms and Conditions. If the Bank makes any material change to these General Terms and Conditions, the Bank will give at least 30 days written notice to you (which may include using electronic means) unless otherwise required by Applicable Regulation. Such amendments will become effective on the earlier of (i) the date specified in the notice or (ii) the date you commit yourself to a further Transaction (after completing a Transaction application form), and such amendments will be deemed effective notwithstanding that a further copy of the amended General Terms and Conditions will not be signed by you. Where you have taken third party products through us, we will use reasonable endeavours to inform the third parties of any such changes to your personal information, but we will not be liable to you if they fail to update their records accordingly. We recommend you update such third parties directly of any changes to your personal information, and you should always do so where their product or service terms and conditions require you to do so.

13.8 Conflicts of Interest

13.8.1 We are part of a global organisation which provides a wide range of financial services. As such, we, or an Associate, may from time to time have interests which conflict with our clients' interests or with the duties that we owe to our clients. These include conflicts arising between the Bank, our Associates and employees on the one hand and the interests of our clients on the other and also conflicts between clients themselves.

13.8.2 We have established procedures which are designed to identify and manage such conflicts. These include organisational and administrative arrangements to safeguard the interests of our clients. A key element of this policy is that persons engaged in different business activities involving a conflict of interest must carry on those activities independently of one another.

13.8.3 Where necessary, we maintain arrangements which restrict the flow of information to certain employees in order to protect our clients' interests and to prevent improper access to client information.

13.8.4 We may also deal as principal for our own account and may be matching transactions with another client. Procedures are in place in order to protect your interest in this instance.

13.8.5 In some cases, our procedures and controls may not be sufficient to ensure that a potential conflict of interest does not damage your interests. In these circumstances, we will consider it appropriate to disclose the potential conflict to you and obtain your formal consent to proceed. However, we reserve the right to decline to act in any circumstance where we consider there is residual risk of damage to the interests of any of our clients including yours interests.

13.9 Delegation

You agree that we may delegate any of our functions or responsibilities under these General Terms and Conditions including the Schedules to any person, provided that before we do so we satisfy ourselves that such a person is competent to carry out those functions and responsibilities.

14. GOVERNING LAW AND JURISDICTION

14.1 Governing law and jurisdiction

Unless otherwise provided for in the relevant Product Description or Schedule, these General Terms and Conditions and all non-contractual obligations and other matters arising from it or in connection with it shall be governed and construed in accordance with the law and jurisdiction designated in the relevant Country Conditions.

14.2 Waiver of immunity and consent to enforcement

You irrevocably waive to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Regulation, with respect to yourself and your revenue and assets (irrespective of their use or intended use) all immunity on the grounds of sovereignty or other similar grounds from (i) suit, (ii) jurisdiction of any courts, (iii) relief by way of injunction, order for specific performance or for recovery of property, (iv) attachment of assets (whether before or after judgment) and (v) execution or enforcement of any judgment to which you or your revenues or assets might otherwise be entitled in any Proceedings in the courts of any jurisdiction and irrevocably agree that you will not claim any immunity in any Proceedings. You consent generally in respect of any Proceedings to the giving of any relief or the issue of any process in connection with such Proceedings, including, without limitation, the making, enforcement or execution against any property whatsoever (irrespective of its use or intended use) of any order or judgment which may be made or given in such Proceedings.

SCHEDULE 1

RISK DISCLOSURES

1. RISKS

The price or value of an investment will depend on fluctuations in the financial markets outside of anyone's control. Past performance is no indicator of future performance.

The nature and extent of investment risks varies between countries and from investment to investment. These investment risks will vary with, amongst other things, the type of investment being made, including how the financial products have been created or their terms drafted, the needs and objectives of particular investors, the manner in which a particular investment is made or offered, sold or traded, the location or domicile of the issuer, the diversification or concentration in a portfolio (e.g. the amount invested in any one currency, security, country or issuer), the complexity of the transaction and the use of leverage.

The risk types set out below could have an impact on each type of investment::

1.1 Liquidity

The liquidity of an instrument is directly affected by the supply and demand for that instrument and also indirectly by other factors, including market disruptions (for example a disruption on the relevant exchange) or infrastructure issues, such as a lack of sophistication or disruption in the securities settlement process. Under certain trading conditions it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate or acquire a position. This may occur, for example, at times of rapid price movement if the price rises or falls to such an extent that under the rules of the relevant exchange trading is suspended or restricted. Placing a stop-loss order will not necessarily limit your losses to intended amounts, but market conditions may make it impossible to execute such an order at the stipulated price. In addition, unless the contract terms so provide, a party may not have to accept early termination of a contract or buy back or redeem the relevant product and there may therefore be zero liquidity in the product. Early termination, realisation or redemption may result in you receiving substantially less than you paid for the product or, in some cases, nothing at all.

1.2 Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk of loss caused by borrowers, bond obligors, guarantors, or counterparties failing to fulfil their obligations or the risk of such parties' credit quality deteriorating. Exposure to the credit risk of one or more reference entities is particularly relevant to any credit linked product such as credit linked notes, and the potential losses which may be sustained, and the frequency and likelihood of such losses occurring, when investing in credit links products may be substantially greater than when investing in an obligation of the reference entity itself.

1.3 Market Risk

The price of investments goes up and down depending on market supply and demand, investor perception and the prices of any underlying or allied investments or, indeed, sector, political and economic factors. These can be totally unpredictable. Any overseas investment or investment with an overseas element can be subject to the risks of overseas markets which may involve different risks from those of the home market of the investor. In some cases the risks will be greater. The potential for profit or loss from transactions on foreign markets or in overseas denominated contracts will be affected by fluctuations in overseas exchange rates. Price volatility in emerging markets, in particular, can be extreme. Price discrepancies, low trading volumes and wide pricing spreads can be common and unpredictable movements in the market not uncommon. Additionally, as news about a country becomes available, the financial markets may react with dramatic upswings and/or downswings in prices during a very short period of time. Emerging markets generally lack the level of transparency, liquidity, efficiency, market infrastructure, legal certainty and regulation found in more developed markets. For example, these markets might not have regulations governing market or price manipulation and insider trading or other provisions designed to “level the playing field” with respect to the availability of information and the use or misuse thereof in such markets. They may also be affected by sector, economic and political risk. It may be difficult to employ certain risk and legal uncertainty management practices for emerging markets investments, such as forward currency exchange contracts or derivatives. The impact of the imposition or removal of foreign exchange controls at any time should be considered, as well as potential difficulties in repatriation of assets. The risks associated with nationalisation or expropriation of assets, the imposition of confiscatory or punitive taxation, restrictions on investments by foreigners in an emerging market, sanctions, war and revolution should also be considered.

1.4 Insolvency

The insolvency or default of the firm with whom you are dealing may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent or, indeed, investments not being returned to you. There is also insolvency risk in relation to the investment itself, for example of the company that issued a bond.

1.5 Currency Risk

In respect of any foreign exchange transactions and transactions in derivatives and securities that are denominated in a currency other than that in which your account is denominated, a movement in exchange rates may have a favourable or an unfavourable effect on the gain or loss achieved on such transactions. The weakening of a country's currency relative to a benchmark currency or the currency of your portfolio will negatively affect the value of an investment denominated in that currency. Currency valuations are linked to a host of economic, social and political factors and can fluctuate greatly, even during intra-day trading. Some countries have foreign exchange controls which may include the suspension of the ability to exchange or transfer currency, or the devaluation of the currency.

1.6 Interest Rate Risk

Interest rates can rise as well as fall. A risk with interest rates is that the relative value of a security, especially a bond or a structured investment, will worsen due to an interest rate increase. This could impact negatively on other products. There are additional interest rate related risks in relation to floating rate instruments and fixed rate instruments; interest income on floating rate instruments cannot be anticipated. Due to varying interest income, investors are not able to determine a definite yield of floating rate instruments at the time they purchase them, so that their return on investment cannot be compared with that of investments having longer fixed interest periods. If the terms and conditions of the relevant instruments provide for frequent interest payment dates, investors are exposed to the reinvestment risk if market interest rates decline. That is, investors may reinvest the interest income paid to them only at the relevant lower interest rates then prevailing. Changes in market interest rates have a substantially stronger impact on the prices of zero coupon bonds than on the prices of ordinary bonds because the discounted issue prices are substantially below par. If market interest rates increase, zero coupon bonds can suffer higher price losses than other bonds having the same maturity and credit rating.

1.7 Commodity Risk

The prices of commodities may be volatile, and, for example, may fluctuate substantially if natural disasters or catastrophes, such as hurricanes, fires or earthquakes, affect the supply or production of such commodities. The prices of commodities may also fluctuate substantially if conflict or war affects the supply or production of such commodities. If any interest and/or the redemption amount payable in respect of any product is linked to the price of a commodity, any change in the price of such commodity may result in the reduction of the amount of interest and/or the redemption amount payable. The reduction in the amount payable on the redemption of an investment may result, in some cases, in you receiving a smaller sum on redemption of a product than the amount originally invested in such product.

1.8 Regulatory/Legal/Structural Risk

All investments could be exposed to regulatory, legal or structural risk. Returns on all, and particularly new, investments are at risk from regulatory or legal actions and changes which can, amongst other issues, alter the profit potential of an investment. Legal changes could even have the effect that a previously acceptable investment becomes illegal. Changes to related issues such as tax may also occur and could have a large impact on profitability. Such risk is unpredictable and can depend on numerous political, economic and other factors. For this reason, this risk is greater in emerging markets but does apply everywhere. In emerging markets, there is generally less government supervision and regulation of business and industry practices, stock exchanges and over-the-counter markets. The type of laws and regulations with which investors are familiar in their jurisdiction may not exist in some places, and where they do, may be subject to inconsistent or arbitrary application or interpretation and may be changed with retroactive effect.

Both the independence of judicial systems and their immunity from economic, political or nationalistic influences remain largely untested in many countries. Judges and courts in many countries are generally inexperienced in the areas of business and corporate law. Companies are exposed to the risk that legislatures will revise established law solely in response to economic or political pressure or popular discontent. There is no guarantee that an overseas investor would obtain a satisfactory remedy in local courts in case of a breach of local laws or regulations or a dispute over ownership of assets. An investor may also encounter difficulties in pursuing legal remedies or in obtaining and enforcing judgments in overseas courts. In the case of many products, there will be no legal or beneficial interest in the obligations or securities of the underlying reference entity but rather an investor will have a contractual relationship with the counterparty only and its rights will therefore be limited to contractual remedies against the counterparty in accordance with the terms of the relevant product. In all cases the legal terms and conditions of a product may contain provisions which could operate against your interests. For example, they may permit early redemption or termination at a time which is unfavourable to you, or they may give wide discretion to the issuer of securities to revise the terms applicable to securities. In other cases there may be limits on the amounts in relation to which rights attaching to securities may be exercised and in the event that you hold too many (or too few) securities, your interests may be prejudiced and should scrutinise these carefully. In some cases, the exercise of rights by others may impact on your investment. For example, a product such as a bond or note may contain provisions for calling meetings of holders of those bonds or notes to consider matters affecting their interests generally (including yours) and may permit defined majorities to bind all holders, including holders who did not attend and vote at the relevant meeting and holders who voted in a manner contrary to the majority. Further, in some cases amendments may be made to the terms and conditions of bonds or notes without the consent of any of the holders in circumstances set out in general conditions attaching to such bonds or notes. Depending upon your particular circumstances and the terms and structure of the particular product you hold, in the event of your death your heirs may have to apply to court in order to obtain probate (or recognition of a probate order) in multiple jurisdictions (including overseas jurisdictions). Some courts may apply Shariah law when determining the distribution of your estate to your heirs. Whilst we may inform you / your heirs of the applicable process we would follow in this eventuality, such processes are subject to change from time to time and may even be outside of our control. It is your responsibility, and that of your heirs, to obtain independent legal advice in this regard.

1.9 Operational Risk

Operational risk, such as breakdowns or malfunctioning of essential systems and controls, including IT systems, can impact on all financial products. Business risk, especially the risk that the business is run incompetently or poorly, could also impact on shareholders of, or investors in, such a business. Personnel and organisational changes can severely affect such risks and, in general, operational risk may not be apparent from outside the organisation.
